

Flight Options

Flight Options is an established, fast growing advanced flight training provider – the company being part of the aviation interests of well-known industry identity Steve Padgett.

The company operates from a state-of-the-art training and simulator centre purchased from Singapore Airlines in 2014 and located with airside access on the Sunshine Coast Airport.

Housing two independent simulator bays, a Cessna Citation Mustang Business Jet and the newly installed Beech King Air 350i Full Level D simulators; the complex includes classrooms, de-briefing rooms, station and procedural trainers and all facilities necessary to support comprehensive, all-inclusive training programmes.

Additionally, the company operates a number of Cessna Citation Business Jets amongst its fleet of owned or managed aircraft, including several in the charter category.

Ideally located on the Sunshine Coast, Flight Options continues to explore new and existing opportunities in the training and development of aviation professionals from Australia and around the world.
